

2019 ACSA Gary Wagar Scholarship NCSO Nomination Form

Description

The University of Alberta (U of A) and the Alberta Construction Safety Association (ACSA) have established a scholarship in honour of former ACSA Executive Director Gary Wagar. The goal of this partnership is to encourage and support students who wish to further their careers in the health and safety profession.

This annual $1000 scholarship will be presented to an individual who has attained the National Construction Safety Officer (NCSO) designation through the ACSA, and will allow the recipient to continue his or her professional development in the Occupational Health & Safety Certificate program at the U of A. The winner will also receive a complimentary registration to The ACSA Conference, being held in Edmonton on April 1 & 2, 2019.

Eligibility

This category is open to individuals who are:

- Have an NCSO designation, certified through the ACSA
- Have a proven desire to pursue further education in health and safety
- May already be a student in the U of A's OHS Certificate Program

Conditions

Note the following important conditions of nomination:

- Self-nominations are permitted
- Each question must be addressed in the application form
- Applicants are strongly advised to include supporting material/evidence. For example, photos, testimonials, reports, figures etc.
- The winner must be in attendance at The ACSA Conference, being held in Edmonton on April 1 & 2, 2019.

Assessment

- All applications will be assessed by a panel comprised of representatives from both the U of A and ACSA
- Scoring for each question will be allocated using a rubric system
- The short essay will be evaluated based on original thought, practical application, innovation and references to safety applications/best practice

Nominations close on Friday, February 15, 2019 at 4:00pm.
